

Lesson 12: Practicing Using The ABC's of Prewriting

Purpose of Lesson 12: You will practice writing using The ABC's of Prewriting.

Skills: Reading comprehension, self-reflection, writing, and vocabulary.

Okay, now that you have learned The ABC's of Prewriting, let's put it all together and practice. This time, Ms. Shine will assign you a topic. Going step by step, you will gather information and develop your topic, then organize your ideas and information. For this assignment, use both the list and cluster drawing for Part C of The ABC's of Prewriting.

For our first writing assignment, I would like you to write about yourself! Write about a very important day in your life. Everyone can look back at their lives and find a day that was especially memorable. Select a day that has a great deal of significance and meaning. It can be happy, sad, frightening or anything. Use your imagination and your experience to get ideas.

Lesson 12: Practicing Using The ABC's of Prewriting

Continued after Quiz 1

Good morning class. Our lessons for The ABC's of Prewriting are now completed. I will go over your work in Lesson 12 and let you know if more practice is needed. Overall, you did very well. I would like to ask your opinion about how you did with the Prewriting lessons. Please complete the questions below.

Continued after Quiz 2

Congratulations, you have now completed step one of the writing process: Prewriting!

What's ahead in Unit Three? Learning how to write a draft, revise and edit it... in other words, learning to write an essay!

As always, you will learn it step by step; have practice exercises and lots of good advice from Ms. Shine. Don't forget, Ms. Shine and your teacher will be there for extra help too.